

a cup for your thoughts

Sustainable development is much more than solar panels, hybrid cars and compost. It is also about safe, healthy and equitable communities where every person can reach their full potential.

In a sustainable world: 1. There is zero poverty. 2. Zero hunger, zero malnutrition and sustainable agriculture. 3. All live healthy lives. 4. All have opportunities for life-long, quality education. 5. Women and girls are empowered and there is gender equity. 6. Sustainable water and sanitation is available to all. 7. Sustainable energy is available to all. 8. All have access to productive employment and decent work and economic growth is sustained, inclusive and sustainable. 9. Innovation, sustainable infrastructure and industrialization are promoted. 10. Inequality within and between countries is reduced. 11. Cities and human settlements are inclusive, safe and sustainable. 12. Sustainable consumption and production patterns are promoted. 13. Climate change and its impacts are addressed. 14. Oceans, seas and marine resources are protected and used sustainably. 15. Terrestrial ecosystems are protected and we halt desertification, land degradation and biodiversity loss. 16. Societies are peaceful and inclusive with access to justice for all, and with effective and capable institutions.*

*Based on proposed Goals on Sustainable Development for the Post 2015 Development Agenda • United Nations (<http://sustainabledevelopment.un.org/content/documents/4523zerodraft.pdf>)

Share your stories photos or videos by joining our online community:
Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/Zero.Marta>
our Marta Dialogues blog: <http://home.martadialogues.org/news/zero>
Instagram: #zeromarta
Twitter: @ZeroMarta

You are also invited to meet the artists, other members of our online community, share your stories and perhaps a casserole at the Zero Project Community Potluck on Sunday, August 3rd from 11:00 am to 3:00 pm

Saint Louis individuals and organizations are coming up with new, positive and ingenious approaches to take on all the sustainable development goals. Help us tell the story of sustainable development in the region. Take a cup from the installation (as well as this signed/numbered photograph) and, in exchange, tell us a way you contribute to achieving sustainability in your home, community and region.

ZERO: A Landscape of Conversation and Action installation on view at the Pulitzer Arts Foundation during open hours
Friday, August 1st to Sunday, August 3rd • 3716 Washington Blvd. • St. Louis, MO 63108